FaceTite™ & NeckTite™ – Minimally invasive Face and Neck lift

HOW DOES THE TREATMENT WORK?

The procedure involves the use of a computer controlled, hand held device to apply radio frequency energy to the area of the face or neck to be treated. The device is a very fine probe inserted via a tiny incision into the fatty layer of the skin, just beneath the surface.

A local anaesthetic is used to ensure minimum discomfort.

A gel is applied to the surface of the skin which helps guide the surface electrode along, whilst the probe is passed under the skin.

A pulse mode is used initially, then a continuous mode is used until a warmer target temperature is reached.

Each area takes just a few minutes to be treated, and some improvement is even visible as the procedure takes place.

At Snowberry Lane Clinic, we also conduct fractional resurfacing of the skin following the procedure, to obtain the best results.

WHAT AREAS CAN BE TREATED?

FaceTite can be used to address saggy jowels, hooded brows and eyelids and NeckTite focuses on excess fat and wrinkles on the neck.

DOES IT HURT?

The procedures are minimally invasive without the use of a scalpel, obviating the need for a major surgery or risk to general health.

The procedures are conducted using local anaesthetic and patients may feel a slight tugging or tightening sensation which is not painful. The area may be a little sensitive post-treatment but this is generally short lived.

WHO IS FACETITE AND NECKTITE APPROPRIATE FOR?

FaceTite and NeckTite are treatments aimed at patients whose natural skin elasticity has declined, resulting in loose areas of facial skin. It is equally effective on men and women.

Your qualified practitioner at Snowberry Lane Clinic can advise on whether this is the best treatment for you.
